

Safety Program Workshop

July 20-22, 2010
Hilton Chicago Northbrook
Chicago, Illinois USA

The U.S. Department of Transportation's (USDOT) Intelligent Transportation Systems Joint Program Office (ITS-JPO), part of the Research and Innovative Technology Administration (RITA), will hold a three-day workshop to present and discuss IntelliDriveSM Safety program research roadmaps, including applications, technical and policy activities from July 20-22, 2010 in Chicago, IL.

Safety is critical to the mission of the transportation industry. This workshop is intended as an opportunity for stakeholders to review and provide feedback for refinement on the safety program roadmaps, including technical and policy issues.

There will also be a Professional Capacity Building Workshop (PCB) to engage stakeholders on setting a new strategic direction for the ITS PCB program considering the goals of the new ITS Strategic Research Plan, gather stakeholder input on learning needs, and discuss the future goals for the program.

The sessions and your participation are essential in assisting the ITS-JPO to advance transportation safety.

We have adjusted the agenda based on stakeholder feedback from recent workshops. The new modified agenda features:

Tuesday, July 20	9:00-5:00 CDT	IntelliDrive Safety Program Roadmaps and Discussion (V2V, Safety Pilot, DSRC Device Certification, V2I Safety) (webinar available)
Wednesday, July 21	9:00-noon CDT	Professional Capacity Building Workshop
Wednesday, July 21	9:00-noon CDT	DSRC Device Bidder's Conference
Wednesday, July 21	1:00-5:00 CDT	IntelliDrive Safety Policy Roadmaps Discussion focused on V2V and V2I
